

DANA LEONG is a cellist, trombonist, composer, and educator who fuses his classical training with hip-hop, jazz and electronics to create a signature boundless sound. This 2008-09 Jazz @ Lincoln Center Musical Ambassador and Yamaha-sponsored artist will deliver "hands down excellent" (NY Magazine) performances and master classes to your school, showing your students how to blend their training with the musical styles of today.

From one-hour workshops to week-long residencies, Dana Leong offers a myriad of educational programs for children and music students of all ages. Past topics include:

- Composing With Laptop
- Cross-Genre Collaboration
- Electronics With Acoustic Instruments
- Jazz in the Hip-Hop World
- Improvisation Technique

Dana has recently taught at the following institutions:

- Howard University
- Jazz in July at UMASS
- String Crossing at Belmont University
- University of Colorado School of Jazz
- Stanford University (Stanford Jazz Workshop, 14 years)
- Brandeis High School (Inner-City Youth Programming)
- Lionel Hampton School of Music (University of Idaho, Moscow)

To learn more about Dana's music and his experience in the classroom, check him out on YouTube: <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=zs03e-J8E4A>

www.danaleong.com

For more information regarding booking, please contact:
Sozo Media 917.538.6317 | info@sozomedia.com

